

Welcome ECOSOC Delegates!

My name is Zach Crowe and I am the President of the Economic and Social Council or ECOSOC as most of us know it. Some of you may remember me from previous years as I have been a committee chair for all but one year and was President of ECOSOC in 2007.

Most of my time as a staff member has been spent in the ECOSOC subcommittees; however I did have a brief stint in Fourth Committee. I'm looking forward to my second year as President of ECOSOC as I like the larger committee, but enjoy being involved in the smooth running of the sub committees.

One part of MMUN that I enjoy the most is the parliamentary procedure and the debate portion of committee. As a result, I can sometimes be a bit strict on the rules, so make sure you know your Delegate Handbook. That being said, the primary job of the Conference staff is to ensure that everyone goes away with a positive experience, which your dais staff will try to facilitate. We want ECOSOC to be one of the most rewarding and friendly committees while still adhering to the rules, so pausing for an interpretation or explanation is well worth the time and effort.

Remember, the job of every staff member is to help ensure that each delegate is getting the most out of their MMUN experience, so please, don't hesitate to ask us questions and most importantly, have fun! I look forward to seeing you all in February.

Sincerely,

Zach Crowe

President, ECOSOC
